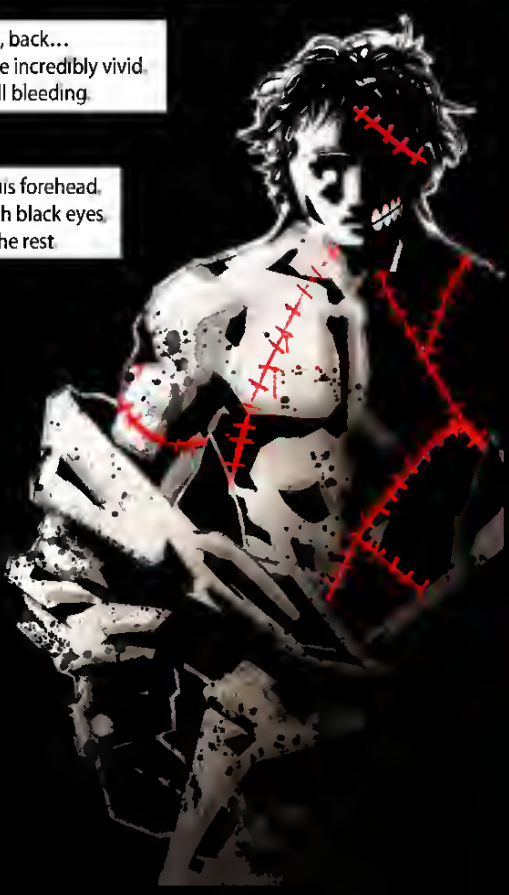
I am dumbfounded.

His skin is as pale as snow with numerous stitches poorly sewn together like on a kid's rag-doll.

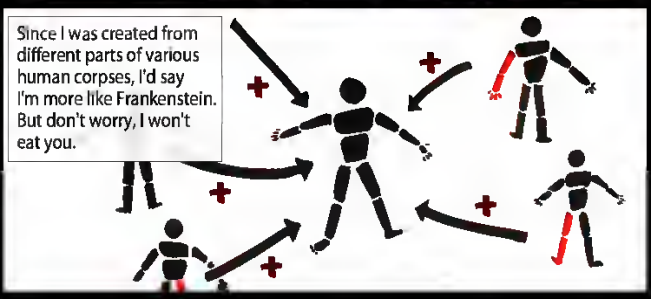
Arms, legs, chest, back...
These stitches are incredibly vivid and some are still bleeding.

The stitches on his forehead above those pitch black eyes stand out from the rest.

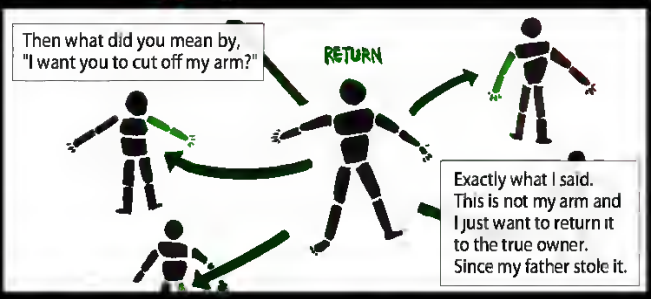


Are you satisfied?
The monster seems to be embarrassed and quickly buttons up his coat. I sit, shocked by the creature in front of me.
What happened?
I don't know. All I remember is that my father created me.
Your father? You have a father?
I've never seen him. I just call him my father. I don't know anything except that he created me.

So… you're an artificial human?
Well… not exactly.



Since I was created from different parts of various human corpses, I'd say I'm more like Frankenstein. But don't worry, I won't eat you.



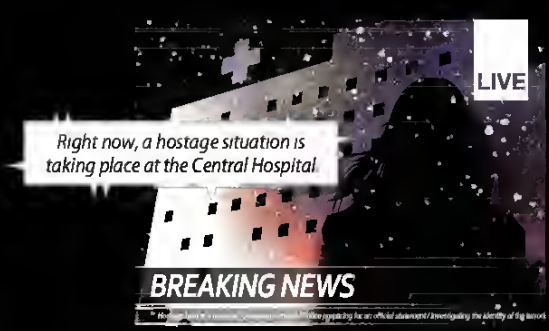
Then what did you mean by, "I want you to cut off my arm?"
RETURN
Exactly what I said. This is not my arm and I just want to return it to the true owner. Since my father stole it.

So what do you get by returning it? You want to ask for forgiveness?
FORGIVE
Yes. This is to ask for forgiveness.

Shit.
ALCOHOL
Here is a creature that appears only in movies and it acts like a 3-year-old child
His sense of reality is gone with that one word, 'forgiveness'.

HOMESICK

- 06 -



There are no leads on the identity of the suspect and the police have yet to release an official report

We have just found out that the hostage being held is a nurse who works at the hospital, Kimberly Foster.

What are you going to do? The police are here. They even deployed a helicopter, so this is no small deal.

I guess so. I didn't really plan to keep you here. I just wanted to get a hold of any doctor but I didn't know that the doctor would be you.

I'm a nurse. Not a doctor.

Whatever.

The people out there are going to get me, whatever it takes

The nurse I meet after painstakingly breaking into the hospital refuses to cut my arm off.

And, now,
I can't even escape from here.
EXIT

So what's your plan?

Click
I'll give them
what they want.

Now you're really my hostage.
